Alzheimer’s and Lyme Disease

A new study from Drexel University summarizes: “The reaction of the immune system to Borrelia coated with biofilms is what leads to Alzheimer’s disease. Killing these organisms before they arrive at the brain or before they create biofilms is exceedingly important.”