

Cats

In a 2010 study, researchers failed to prove that Bartonella is transmitted by ticks. Cats and cat fleas remained as possible vectors, leaving Bartonella as a coincidental co-infection of Lyme.

lymestats.org