

White-Footed Mouse

One of the most efficient vectors of Lyme disease in the US is the white-footed mouse. Over 90% of ticks feeding on wild mice become infected with Lyme Borrelia. Populations of white-footed mice flourish in small patches of forest and easily travel into cities, carrying infected ticks.

lymestats.org