

More Than Half In Maine

According to the Maine Medical Center, more than half of all deer ticks in Maine are contaminated with Lyme and other pathogens. 9 out of 10 ticks in Southern Maine are deer ticks. They are especially prevalent throughout the fall months.

lymestats.org