

Dementia

Dementia can be a symptom of Lyme disease.

A 2017 report details the case of an 80-year-old patient initially suspected to be suffering from Alzheimer's. Once the patient was properly tested for Lyme disease and treated with antibiotics, symptoms of dementia resolved.

lymestats.org